

The man who got everything right met the woman who...

well that would be too pat. Let's say that Venus simply didn't care.

She had a horrendous accident on I-4 and thereafter one side of her face drooped.

He had a club foot to begin with.

Naturally, they tried dancing.

With its requisite social surround.

Oh well, everything flops but they stay a couple.

Explain that, you've got the key to the universe.

Sell it! The suckers jostle in line.
